INTRODUCTION

This collection of Shackelford Genealogy was made by Thomas Kelley Jones who willed it to the Manuscript Section of the Tennessee State Library and Archives. Mr. Jones was a native of Tennessee but was living in Lubbock, Texas at the time of his death ca. 1958. He had loaned the collection to the Genealogical Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Salt Lake City, Utah for microfilming. It was sent by this organization to the Tennessee State Library and Archives. The 1992 addition was a gift of Mrs. John F. Morrison, Jr., of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee.

The collection occupies 12.48 cubic feet of shelf space and numbers approximately 1000 items and 36 volumes. Literary rights in the unpublished data in this collection have been dedicated to the public. Single photocopies may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Thomas Kelley Jones collection of Shackelford Genealogy composed of thirty bound volumes and approximately 1,000 items is an extensive tracing of the Shackelford (Shackleford) and related families in the United States dating from 1658 to ca. 1960. These records were compiled by Mr. T. K. Jones, a Shackelford descendant, during his lifetime. Among the sources used for obtaining information were census and tax lists, family Bibles, deed books, newspapers, and published material. Mr. Jones was editor of the Shackelford Clan Magazine until April 1957 and through this medium he came into possession of much family data.

There are five volumes tracing the descendants of John and Abraham Jones that contains considerable information on the early members of this family, showing relationship to succeeding generations.

The remainder of the volumes and other loose items concern primarily the "Shackelford clan" in the United States. Some early records can be found in most of the volumes. An important feature of all the bound books is an extensive name index. This is arranged alphabetically by family name; then chronologically under each family head listing names of all children and giving page numbers where each descendant may be found.

Other items included in the collection are newspaper clippings, memorabilia of Mr. Jones, and some correspondence covering the years 1931-1954. There is also a considerable amount of unfinished loose record sheets containing fractional genealogical information on the Shackelford and related families. Some other family names beside Jones mentioned frequently in the collection include Bartholomew, Halbrooks, Herron, Goff, Maness, Tosh, Stone, Sego, and Waller.
